Non-Discrimination & Accessibility

S & R Truck Driving Institute (SRTDI) does not discriminate on the basis of:

- Race
- Color
- National origin
- Sex
- Age
- Disability
- Religion
- Veteran status
- Genetic information
- Any other protected classification under applicable federal or state law

This policy applies to admissions, enrollment, training, testing eligibility, financial practices, student services, employment practices where applicable, and all institutional programs and activities.

Equal Opportunity in Admissions

Admission decisions are based upon applicable eligibility requirements, program readiness, CDL safety and regulatory requirements, academic preparedness, and professional conduct standards.

SRTDI does not deny admission on the basis of a protected classification under applicable federal or state law.

Reasonable Accommodations

SRTDI provides reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with documented disabilities in accordance with applicable requirements.

Students requesting an accommodation should:

- Submit the accommodation request in writing
- Provide appropriate supporting documentation
- Participate in an interactive review process with institutional administration

Approved accommodations must not compromise essential safety requirements, violate applicable Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration requirements, or prevent achievement of essential program learning outcomes or competencies.

Accommodation determinations are made individually based upon the circumstances and applicable institutional, safety, and regulatory requirements.

Harassment, Discrimination & Retaliation

SRTDI prohibits harassment, discriminatory conduct, and retaliation against individuals who report concerns or file complaints in good faith.

Students who believe they have experienced discrimination, harassment, accessibility concerns, or retaliation may use SRTDI's published Student Complaint Procedure.

Retaliation against an individual participating in a complaint, investigation, or compliance review process is prohibited.
